Year-End Tax Tips

turbotax.intuit.com – Along with the holidays comes end-of-year financial planning. Head to this site before December 31 to learn how to minimize your 2017 tax bill. Suggestions include taking last-minute deductions (like holiday charitable donations), selling certain investments, contributing to retirement accounts, checking IRA distributions, and watching your flexible spending accounts.

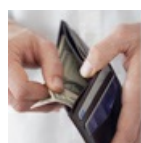

Best Holiday Cookie Recipes

foodnetwork.com – Leave it to Food Network to spoil cookie lovers with 109 great recipes for the holiday season. Find all your favorites — like Gingerbread, Shortbread, Butter, Sugar, and Spoon — along with some unusual picks like Crunchy Peanut Butter S'more Bites, Cinnamon-Spiced Hot Chocolate, or Turtle Graham Bars. Yum!

Creative Gift-Wrapping Ideas

countryliving.com – After picking out the perfect gifts for your loved ones this season, don't forget to dress them up with fun wrapping. This site offers many whimsical ideas to reflect anyone's tastes — including artistic, musical, maps, ornaments, bright colors, crosswords, chalkboard, or simple but elegant brown paper.

Improve Your Finances

doughroller.net – If holiday spending has put an unpleasant dent in your finances, visit this site to iron it out. Read articles on a variety of money topics; learn about the best credit cards and checking and savings accounts; and visit the Tools section for help with investing, budgeting, debt, and more.

Short Tutorial/FAQ – How Do I Use Hashtags On Facebook?

Question: I like using hashtags on Twitter. Can I use them on Facebook too? If so, how does it work?

Answer: Yes, you can use hashtags on Facebook, and the process is very similar to the way it's done on Twitter. Hashtags are useful for helping other users understand the context of your post, and for adding your voice to an ongoing virtual conversation about a particular topic...
