Scam Alert - Ransomware Senders Demand Money To "Fix" Files

One of the latest ways for cybercriminals to try and get money from you involves infecting your computer with a virus that encrypts your valuable files (making these files unusable) and then demanding a payment to decrypt them. This type of virus, called ransomware, can be installed on your computer if you open an infected attachment or click on an infected link from a malicious sender. CLICK HERE FOR ALL THE DETAILS.

This Month's FAQ - What Causes Buffering When I Watch Videos?

Question: Sometimes when I'm watching a video on YouTube, it will stop and start or play in a choppy fashion. What could be causing this and what can I do about it?

Answer: What you're describing is called buffering. This means that the part of the video you're trying to watch is currently downloading. Buffering can be the result of many different factors including problems with the hosting site, the speed of your Internet connection, and the software and/or hardware of your computer.

YouTube suggests the following troubleshooting tips:

1. Clear your browser's cache and cookies.
2. Pause the video. Allow the gray loading bar to load completely to the end of the player. Once the video has fully loaded, try playing the video again.
3. Check your connection speed. You may want to increase it in order to have the best viewing experience.

Another possible reason for video difficulties is that the YouTube servers are experiencing high traffic. If this is the case, there's not much you can do but try again later.

Sites Of The Month - Great Sites To Check Out In November

Time To Talk Turkey

butterball.com – Enter the "turkeysphere" to learn everything you need to know about choosing, preparing, and serving your Thanksgiving turkey. Helpful videos and text walk you through thawing, stuffing, roasting, the ever-popular deep-frying, and, of course, carving. For post-holiday meals and snacks, check out the recipe section for ideas on using leftovers.

What To Do To Beat The Flu

cdc.gov/flu – Fall brings colder weather, the holidays ... and unfortunately, the flu. But you don't have to let flu get the best of you this year. Check out this website for valuable information including flu basics, how flu spreads, where to get a flu shot, and other things you can do to help avoid getting sick.

A-door-able Fall Adornments

bhg.com – Visit this gallery to get inspiration for decorating with wreaths and other fall décor for your door, gate, or mantel. You'll find pretty and creative embellishments made with seeds, leaves, twigs, fruit, flowers, and much more. The site makes it easy to save, print, share, or pin your favorites!

Shop Safely Online During The Holidays

staysafeonline.org – It's always important to protect yourself online, and even more so during the holiday shopping season. The tips on this site may seem like common sense but you may not remember, for example, to print transaction details. It's worth a visit so you can stay safe while getting your shopping done.

Short Tutorial - How To Help Keep Your Image Out Of Facebook Ads

Have you noticed how if a friend endorses a company or product, you're more likely to make a similar purchase? Facebook certainly knows this and uses this bit of psychology to boost the effectiveness of what are known as social ads. The problem is that it does this without users' permission. For example, in your news feed, you may see a paid ad for a sushi place, along with a note that says, "Jane Smith likes this." If you don't want Facebook using your name or likeness in this way, follow these easy steps:

1. Within Facebook, click Settings (the gear icon in the upper-right corner of your Home page).
2. From the dropdown list, select Privacy Settings.
3. In the left column, click Ads.
4. In the Ads & Friends section, click Edit.
5. Next to the phrase, Pair my social actions with ads for, click the dropdown arrow and select No one.
6. Click Save Changes.
