Scam Alert - Beware Of Malvertising

Malvertising is one of the latest ways for bad guys to get bad stuff onto your computer. Here's how it works: You visit a website, click on an ad, and get directed to another site that tells you your computer needs an update and encourages you to download phony software that will "fix" the problem. The software then infects your computer with problematic malware or spyware ... CLICK HERE FOR ALL THE DETAILS.

Sites Of The Month - Great Sites To Check Out In March

Celebrate Womens History Month

nwhp.org – Sponsored by the National Women's History Project, Women's History Month celebrates women's role in the history of our country. At this site, you can learn more about this year's theme, "Weaving the Stories of Women's Lives," find a performer or author to speak at your event, or purchase books and other resources.

Springtime Projects From Martha Stewart

marthastewart.com – Ready for some springtime projects? As usual, Martha Stewart has you covered. From egg ornaments to flower baskets to baby shower ideas, on this site you'll find step-by-step instructions to create them all. When you find something you like, it's easy to share with friends on Twitter, Facebook, Pinterest, and more.

Great Deals On Gym Memberships

consumerreports.org – This Consumer Reports article describes several practical ways to save money on a gym membership. It includes strategies like signing up toward the end of the month, joining with others, and negotiating a fee that excludes services you won't use. You can also watch updates from services like Groupon for membership offers.

Nutritious Springtime Produce

cookinglight.com – Every season has its best produce, and this site celebrates the nutrition-packed fruits and veggies of spring. How about some juicy strawberries for fiber and Vitamin C? A good source of plant protein, fresh peas are at their peak from April through July. Artichokes, rhubarb, and more mushrooms round out the list.

This Month's FAQ - How Can I Keep Neighbors From Using My Home Wi-Fi?

Question: I suspect my neighbors are using my Wi-Fi. How can I prevent this?

Answer: You're right to take precautions, as higher data charges, slow speeds, and hacking can result from unauthorized persons using your Wi-Fi (this is known as "piggybacking"). There are many steps you can take to prevent it from happening. Here are three of the most effective:

1. Create a password. Go into the admin dashboard for your router and find the default password. Change it to something difficult to guess. The best passwords are long, random combinations of letters and numbers. Don't worry about having to remember your password — you'll only have to enter it the first time you use a device on the network.
2. Encrypt wireless signals. This task also involves getting into your router dashboard. Once you're there, change your security mode to WPA2, WPA, or WEP.
3. Reduce your range. Place your router in the middle of your home to restrict its range only to authorized users.
