Sites of the Month – Great Sites To Check Out June

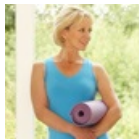

American Rose Society

rose.org – Visit this site to find the perfect rose bushes for your garden, or contact your local rose society or a consulting "rosarian." Visit the Education section to view articles, publications, and awards. Photographers, exhibitors, and arrangers — there's plenty of information here for you, too.

Minimalist Baker

minimalistbaker.com – Love to cook but don't want to spend forever in the kitchen? This site features recipes that can be cooked with 10 or fewer ingredients, using one bowl, in 30 minutes or less. Search by special diet, cuisine, or ingredient. You'll find options for breakfast, main dishes, dips, and much more.

National Institute on Aging

nia.nih.gov/health – As we age, we develop new health concerns, and this website explains many of them. Offered by the National Institute of Aging (NIA), which is part of the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services, the site features articles on cognitive health, exercise, healthy eating, and diseases that appear later in life.

Today's Homeowner

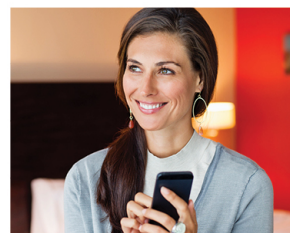

todayshomeowner.com – Homeowners know there's never a shortage of improvement projects needing to be done. Visit this site for pointers on your next one. Get tips on everything from preparing your home and garden for summer to installing a new deck.

Short Tutorial/FAQ – Which Is More Secure Android Or iOS?

Question: I'm in the market for a new smartphone. I know people are pretty attached to their operating system, whether it's Android or iOS. But I'm more concerned with safety. Which one is actually more secure?

Answer: Apple's iOS mobile operating system (OS) is generally considered to be more secure...
